

RECOMMENDANCE Your Humor Style: Absurd + Clever

You love your comedy smart but strange. Logic is welcome if it's willing to bend, twist, or self-destruct.

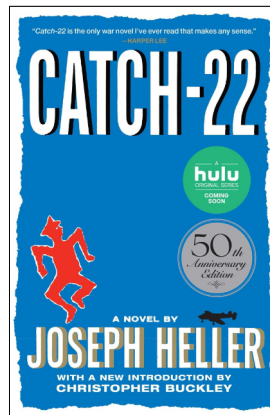

You're drawn to books that combine intellectual mischief with imaginative anarchy. Wordplay and satire appeal, but so do oddball scenarios and characters who live just outside the bounds of normal. If it's too grounded, it might feel flat. If it's too juvenile, it might feel beneath you. But if it's brainy and bizarre? That's your sweet spot.

Your Recommended Reads

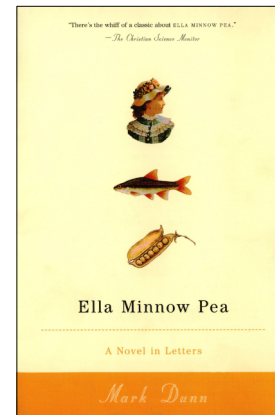

1. The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy by Douglas Adams

A cult classic of absurd logic, intergalactic bureaucracy, and relentless deadpan wit, with talking doors, depressed robots, and fish that translate languages in your ear.

2. Catch-22 by Joseph Heller

A maddeningly circular satire of war and bureaucracy. The absurdity is systemic, the logic twisted, the characters brilliant and doomed, and yet somehow, it's laugh-out-loud funny.

3. Ella Minnow Pea by Mark Dunn

A linguistic dystopia where letters are progressively banned from use. It's a puzzle, a parable, and a playground for word-lovers, with a strange and silly premise told in the cleverest possible way.

Core Traits:

- Cleverness: Language, irony, concept-driven humor
- Absurdity: Surreal logic, playful illogic, imaginative leaps

Look For:

- Paradoxical situations
- Satirical premises
- Writers who challenge logic as a form of entertainment

Probably Not for You

Avoid: The Rosie Project by Graeme Simsion

Though often funny, it's grounded in realism and predictability. Its humor leans warm and relational, not surreal or intellectually surprising, so it may feel too soft or tidy for your taste.

If This Is You, You Might Say:

"I like my jokes smart, but I also want to feel like I've fallen down a rabbit hole—with a thesaurus."

A Note on Culture

Humor doesn't exist in a vacuum – it's shaped by the places we've lived, the languages we speak, and the cultures we carry with us. Uncoverize's humor styles aim to describe how people laugh, but not always why. So while this guide matches your humor style, you might find the best fit in books that come from your own cultural background – or in stories that speak to your specific sensibilities. Think of this as a starting point, not a prescription.

In partnership with Recommendance, a Bay Area startup, Books & More is exploring this fun new way to match readers with books. Let us know what you think! hello@recommendance.com